

Dear Ruby Labs Hiring Team,

I'm excited to apply for the Senior Android Engineer role. Over 9 years of Android development, I've built high-scale B2C applications at companies like Zalando and Slice, working extensively with Kotlin Flow, Coroutines, and Jetpack Compose to deliver performant, maintainable features. At Slice, I optimized purchase conversion by 50% through data-driven UI refinements and accelerated development by 80% by migrating legacy views to Jetpack Compose — direct experience with the kind of UX and performance ownership this role demands. I've also architected systems from scratch (Halyk Bank's Clean Architecture trading app), driven TDD practices to near-100% coverage (Arlo, Turkcell), and led CI/CD and code-quality initiatives across distributed teams. I'd welcome the opportunity to bring this B2C product mindset and architectural rigor to Ruby Labs' Android app.

Best regards,

Maksim Sukhotski
